

Is your child ready for PET?

您的孩子准备好参加 PET 考试了吗？

4 papers — Reading (45 min) · Writing (45 min) · Listening (30 min) · Speaking (10–12 min, paired) — scored on the Cambridge English Scale, CEFR B1.

B1 Preliminary for Schools (PET) is the next step up from KET, and it's where English starts to feel less like a subject and more like a tool your child can actually use. It asks for longer reading, structured writing, and real opinions — not just correct answers. Most children are ready for PET after building real confidence and stamina at KET level.

B1 Preliminary for Schools (PET) 是继KET之后的进阶考试，从这一阶段开始，英语对孩子来说不再只是一门学科，而是真正能够运用的工具。它要求孩子阅读更长的文章、进行有条理的写作，并表达真实的观点——而不仅仅是给出正确答案。大多数孩子在KET阶段积累了足够的自信和应试能力后，就已经准备好迎接PET了。

READINESS SIGNS TO LOOK FOR

- 1 ☐ Can read a longer text (magazine article, story) and understand both detail and overall meaning, not just headlines
能阅读较长的文章（杂志文章、故事），既能理解细节，也能把握整体意思，而不只是标题
- 2 ☐ Can write a structured ~100-word piece (a story or article) with a beginning, middle and end, not just a list of sentences
能写出结构完整、约100词的短文（故事或文章），包含开头、发展和结尾，而不只是简单罗列句子
- 3 ☐ Can follow natural-paced spoken English (not slowed down for learners) in short conversations or announcements
能听懂以自然语速（非为学习者刻意放慢）表达的简短对话或通知
- 4 ☐ Can give opinions and reasons in conversation, not just facts ("I like it because...") 能在对话中表达观点并说明原因（例如“我喜欢它，因为……”），而不只是陈述事实
- 5 ☐ Can sustain a 4-part spoken interaction, including a short discussion with a partner, without needing constant prompting 能完成包含四个部分的口语互动，包括与同伴的简短讨论，不需要不断提示
- 6 ☐ Can manage independent written work for 45 minutes without losing focus 能独立完成45分钟的书面练习，且保持专注
- 7 ☐ Shows some ability to infer meaning from context when they don't know every word
即使遇到不认识的单词，也能根据上下文推测出大致意思

Want a second opinion from a tutor?

想听听老师的专业意见？预约免费15分钟诊断沟通。

sound-ready.com/contact

This is a general guide based on what we typically see in students, not a formal assessment — every child develops at their own pace.

本指南基于我们对学生的一般观察经验，并非正式的水平测试——每个孩子的成长节奏都不同。